

OKTAL-SE moves to its new headquarter

A major step in the Company history

The OKTAL-SE company enters into a new part of its history. The company is proud to inform you that the headquarter will move in April 2010 to a new place. This change of location will open a new area of expansion for OKTAL-SE. This move will improve its internal organization, but will mainly strengthen the relations with its customers and partners.

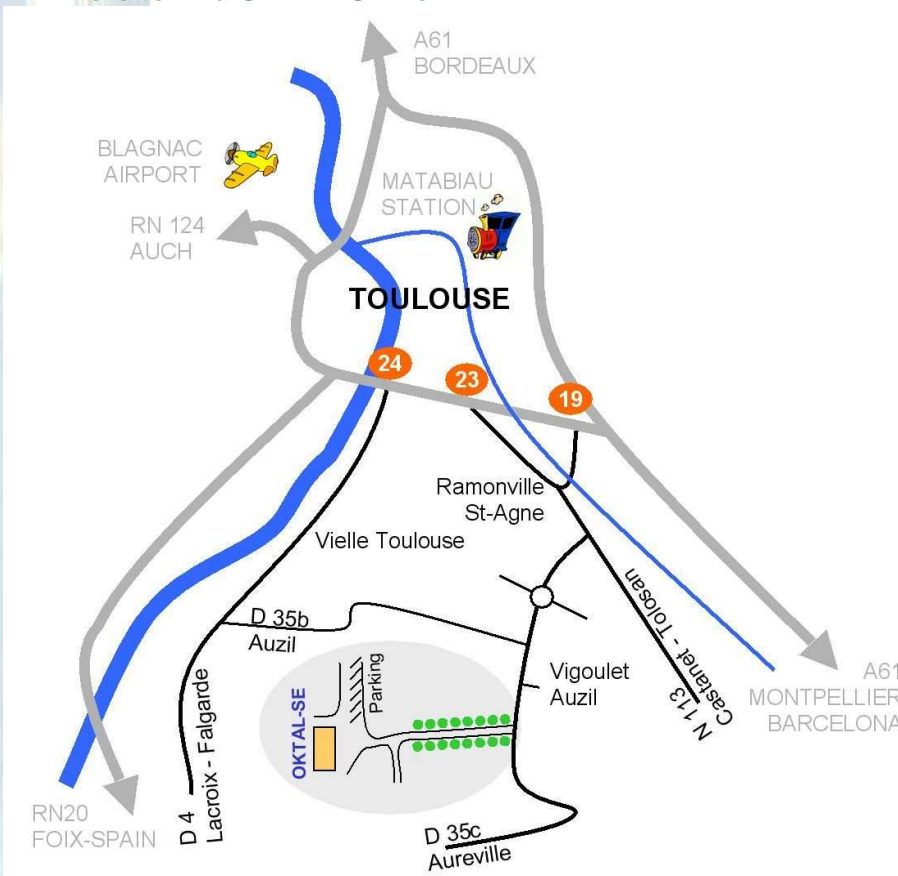

A new working environment

OKTAL-SE anticipates its growth in the future years by installing its activities in a bigger office. The working environment will enable to welcome more collaborators and specialists to strengthen the work force of the company.

"The new space available will enable the company to host training sessions, presentations and seminars. This will create a new way of cooperation with our customers and new opportunities of experience sharing with our partners", said Jean LATGER (CEO).
