

Event at OKTAL-SE headquarter: Organization of training workshops

A new opportunity for the training of your experts

The OKTAL-SE company takes advantage of its new office and the related facilities to enter into a new dynamic for its customer training. Training workshops dedicated to the SE-Workbench software, will be organized in the new headquarter, taking benefit of the company structure and of the presence of all the development team. This new type of training workshops goes in the right direction regarding the increase of interactions between OKTAL-SE and its customers and partners.

A real benefit for everybody

“This new way of making training will increase the specific knowledge of our customers on advanced features of the software. It will also benefit to the company as it will place the R&D team in front of the user’s return on experience”, says Nicolas MOREAU responsible for the Training activities at OKTAL-SE. Nicolas MOREAU also considers that “these training workshops are a very good complement to the onsite training and assistance sessions. The onsite training sessions are dedicated to a larger audience and general topics, as the onsite technical assistance sessions are oriented toward the customer application needs”.

Actually, the organization of the training workshops will involve the training team, but also the product managers for specific and advanced topics.

A planned agenda, a strict organization

The agenda of the training workshops during the year 2010 is the following:

- June 14 -June 18, 2010: SE-AGETIM
- September, 2010: SE-Workbench-EO
- December, 2010: SE-TK and other APIs

The training workshops are organized in English language and limited to 8 attendees per session.

The registration to the training needs to be made at least 2 months ahead, by communication of a Purchase Order to Nicolas MOREAU.

If a minimum of 3 attendees per workshop is not reached, OKTAL-SE may cancel the session.
